Eye Movements While Reading a Science Passage

60 min(s) to complete

£8 Amazon voucher

Experiment

Portland Building, University of Nottingham Students' Union, University of Nottingham :...

University of Nottingham

Looks at how people read a science passage by examining their eye movements when reading.

Apart from this reading experiment, participants will be asked to complete: an English reading comprehension task, a short science test, and a comprehension task .

The whole procedure will not take more than an hour. Inconvenience allowance is an £8 Amazon voucher. A non-invasive eye-tracker is used. Chocolates are also provided :)
