People for Research

People for Research are working on a project with a client who wants to know how you enjoy your time off. Whether you break your diet every now and again for a takeaway, or if you simply enjoy kicking back and listening to a few tunes, we want to know about your perfect weekend!

In addition to the 60-minute research slots, we also need an all-day standby to fill in if needed. If this sounds like you, come and get involved!
