Loughborough University

I am currently an Undergraduate Student studying BSc Geography at Loughborough University. I am conducting research on the impact that Brexit will have on the UK, but also looking at the wider geopolitical issues that the UK government should be concerned about as well.

My research method is in the form of a questionnaire, that consists of 12 questions. I am looking for as many respondents as I can and will be very grateful for a few spare minutes of your time to complete the survey.
