Looking for fluent English speakers who have been fluent from a young age.

I am looking for participants for a study on human decision-making this study involves completing a few short trivia-like tasks, a memory test and a logic game on a computer. Before completing the tasks participants will wear a tDCS cap (which is a bit like a swimming cap with a few small electrodes) which will stimulate part of the brain, increasing the activity of the brain region. There are no side-effects.
