Scotland's Rural College

What is a good life for a farm animal from your point of view? This study is all about exploring the idea of positive animal welfare - which is about promoting positive experiences for animals (e.g. play, social interaction etc.). At Scotland's Rural College we would like to hear the perspective of people living in Scotland on this concept. Participation would involve a confidential, open-ended research interview to hear your thoughts - help us shape and inform farm animal welfare policy
