Do you drink alcohol 2-3 times per week? If so, we are interested in hearing from you!

STRATIFY is a brain imaging project that investigates the relationship between brain and behaviour. The study involves answering questionnaires at home and visiting our institute to complete some tasks, questionnaires, and provide a blood and urine sample followed by a magnetic resonance imaging scan. Participants will be reimbursed £100 for their time and travel, and will receive a picture of their...
