Interview and Intervention study

London SE5, UK

King's College London

We are investigating a new talking therapy for young people who have experienced stigma, prejudice and/or discrimination and who are looking to improve their self esteem. The study would involve taking part in an interview and then 6 individual sessions designed to improve self esteem. You would also be asked to complete some questionnaires throughout the study. The talking therapy is based on Cognitive Behaviour Therapy (CBT) and compassion focused training.
