University of Hull

This study focuses on the experiences of members of the UK LGBT Community aged between 18 and 25. Very little research has been done around leadership motivation, and the effects that role models and social status have on the development of a leadership identity within our community. Therefore I am looking for people to take part in short Skype interviews to talk about your leadership opportunities. If you would be willing to spend 15-20 minutes having an informal chat, please follow the links.
