Nottingham Trent University

The anonymous survey explores people's disclosure decisions and experiences after having their nude or sexual images (pictures or videos) shared without their consent. For example, who people told about their experience (if anyone). The aim is to understand facilitators and barriers to disclosure and support so we can improve support. You will be asked about your wellbeing, your experience (e.g., who shared the images) and your perceptions of support (e.g., friends, family, police).
