University College London

We are recruiting adult drinkers to participate in research to make an app to help people drink less more user-friendly. If eligible, the study will involve you using an app and completing certain tasks, whilst describing what you are thinking, followed by a brief interview on any desired changes to the app.

Participation is paid (£20 amazon voucher and up to £5 travel reimbursement).

The study will be conducted in multiple locations: London, Sheffield, Bristol and Newcastle.
