Interview

Institute of Psychiatry Main
Building, Camberwell, London
SE5 8AF, UK

King's College London

The study is aimed at gaining a better understanding of LGBQ+ young people's self-esteem and the factors that affect it. It will involve completing some short questionnaires and taking part in an interview that will last approximately 45-90 minutes. Interviews will take place at King's College London and all participants will receive £20 for their time. We are currently looking for volunteers who are experiencing low self-esteem and identify as either gay or lesbian.
