Online Interview

Online

University of Northampton

I am inviting iPhone users between the ages of 18 and 24 years old, currently residing in the United Kingdom, to take part in this study as part of a research project which explores how individual iPhone users from Generation Z use their branded Smartphone applications. To take part in the study you will be required to run the Screen Time feature for iOS in the background of your Smartphone device for a 3 month period. Your app usage will be discussed during an online interview.
