Experiment

Portland Building, University
Park, Nottingham NG7 2RD, UK

University of Nottingham

Participants will take part in a driving simulator task which will take place in Nottingham University's driving simulator. The task involves approaching a series of junctions and pulling out when it is deemed to be safe. You will be given some instructions on what do to when checking the junction which you should follow. Your memory for vehicles will also be tested throughout the experiment. Eye movements will be tracked continuously throughout the scenarios using eye tracking glasses.
