University of Bristol

Researchers at the University of Bristol are looking for participants to test a wearable camera and complete surveys using a smartphone app for 4 days over a 2-week period. We want to find out if it is practical and acceptable to use the camera and app to capture the conditions that influence eating. The researcher will also meet you on three occasions, each lasting 60-90 minutes. On completion of the study, you will receive a £40 Love2shop voucher.
